MON

Integrated Risk Management

This one-day workshop provides a complete view of what an effective and efficient Integrated Risk Management (IRM) Framework looks like. Focus is on the key parts of the framework and how the parts should be connected to deliver real business value in a fully integrated manner.

19

TUE

Risk Appetite

Covers all aspects of developing risk appetite and tolerance at the corporate level, cascading the appetite through the organisation and operationalising it so it can be used in day to day management and decision making.

20

WED

Risk and Controls Self Assessment

The workshop covers all aspects of the Risk Assessment process from design and implementation through to carrying out assessments, reporting results and creating follow up actions. The course applies the ISO 31000 and 31010 standards.

16

WED

Controls Assurance

This course will challenge your control framework and equip you with the skills to provide assurance as to the ongoing effectiveness of controls and design more efficient and effective controls.

17

THU

Key Risk Indicators

Covers all aspects of developing and successfully implementing a strong Key Risk Indicator (KRI) framework from identifying KRIs, through to developing thresholds, effective reporting and embedding into the management process.

23

MON

Strategic, Project & Change Risk Management

Addresses all aspects of strategic, project and change risk covering Decision Risk, Execution Risk and Delivered Risk. Focus is on the practical management of each of these risks and how each process should be embedded in strategic and business planning, project management and ongoing business management.

Built to help you achieve your strategic objectives

Poor corporate performers reveal themselves to the market very quickly. Their share price gets pummelled, and investors lose long-term confidence in the management team. There is no faster way to prevent a pummelling than to invest in superior training for your team. It protects you, gives you a stronger competitive platform to stand on and advances the interests of your organisation.

Protecht is more than a software company, we guide you through your risk management journey.

The Protecht Group is a leader in Enterprise Risk Management Software and Services that enables organisations to achieve their strategic objectives through efficient, effective and agile Risk Management. Since 1999, we have delivered training, advisory and software solutions that intensify the Risk Management focus and discipline of corporations and government departments alike.

With the right knowledge, expertise and technology in place, it is possible to embrace risk and advance your organisation as a result.
